Timely Tidbits ...*SRB Reps Chosen

During its August 23 meeting, the Romulus City Council unanimously voted to select Cameron Priebe, the former mayor of Taylor, to represent Romulus on a Site Review Board whose task will be to examine Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc.'s proposal for a treatment, storage, and disposal facility on Citrin Drive in Romulus.

Priebe was recommended for the post by Mayor William Oakley.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners also has chosen its representative to the Site Review Board: 15th District Commissioner Ed Boike (D-Taylor). Commissioner John Sullivan (D-Romulus), has been designated as the County's alternate.

Zaborowski Returns

Retired Judge Henry Zaborowski made a brief return to the 34th District Court recently in order to continue the court's business while Judges Tina Brooks Green, Brian A. Oakley, and William J. Szlinis attended the 1999 Judicial Conference of District and Municipal Court Judges in Shanty Creek.

At the conference – which the judges are required, by Michigan law, to attend – the trio attended classes to learn more about the new "repeat offender" legislation that targets drivers who repeatedly drive drunk or with a suspended driver's license. Other topics included new sentencing guidelines, courtroom security, and alternatives to incarceration.

Earn Diploma, GED

Romulus/Van Buren Community Education is now accepting registrations for its fall classes. Whether you'd like to earn your high-school diploma, obtain a GED certificate, or become certified in nurse-aide work or in Microsoft Word, Community Ed has a program for you! In most cases, there is no tuition. Call 941-0610 for details. (Note: Be on the lookout for Community Education's fall brochure, which will be mailed to all Romulus and Belleville residents.)

Club's Expansion Provides Additional Sites Featuring a Safe After-school Environment

Federal funds from the Romulus Community Schools' recently acquired 21st-century Community Learning Centers grant have enabled the district to join the Boys & Girls Club of Southeastern Michigan, Romulus Club, in opening two new Club sites in Romulus.

"These sites will offer students a safe environment where they can study, receive counseling on health and safety issues such as drug and alcohol abuse, and enjoy a variety of traditional recreation activities as well as enrichment programs such as choir, dance, modern band, and Tae Kwon Do," explained Deanna Strong, Program Coordinator for the Learning Centers. "I urge anyone who would like to find out more about the program to attend our new-member orientation, to be held in Room 100, Romulus Middle School, on Thursday, September 9, at 7 p.m."

The sites will operate weekdays according to the following schedule:

- Wick Elementary School (afterschool until 6 p.m.),
- Romulus Middle School (after school until 6 p.m.), and
- Merriman Elementary School (after school until 8:30 p.m.).

Membership in the Boys & Girls Club is open to all boys and girls ages six to eighteen (grades one through twelve); proof of age is required at the time of registration. Dues are $25 per year.

To sign up for the orientation, or for more information, call 734-941-5839. □

USTA Grant Funded Summer Tennis Program

A pilot grant from the United States Tennis Association enabled 48 Romulus students to take part in a tennis camp held at Romulus High School this summer.

Thanks to the grant, participating students paid just $10 each for nine two-hour lessons, a Wilson tennis racket (which the company made available to the program at a discount price), a tee shirt, and a water bottle.

Students were split into two classes, with grades one through four taking part in the morning session (10 a.m. to 12 p.m.) while grades five through eight played in the afternoon (1 to 3 p.m.). Classes focused on the fundamentals of tennis: forehand, backhand, overhead, volley, serve, and score.

Instructors for the program were Phil Yaccick of Woodhaven (Halecreek re-teacher and United States Professional Tennis Association certified tennis professional), Mike Adanti of Woodhaven (All-state tennis team member and Varsity tennis player at Eastern Michigan University), and Audrey Shade of Grosse Ile (All-state tennis team member and Varsity tennis player at Cleveland State University). Also assisting were Grosse Ile High School students Don Adams and Mike Kasmeric.

Yaccick, who had also conducted an after-school program at Halecreek Elementary last year, was pleased the students' enthusiasm.

"The student response has been just great," he stated.

Shade, who has done clinics around the country for several years, noted, "Many students have shown a terrific amount of natural ability, and could be outstanding players in the future."

The 48 Romulus students who participated in the summer program were: Maurice Anderson, Cody Barnes, Chyna Bennett, Olivia Boler, Eric Bondie, Chris Bossidis, Erin Brag, Jennifer Dick, Jessica Dick, Doloris Garry, Chelden Gober, Nicole Goodman, Kourtney Hamilton, Erica Hayes, Jeannie Hayes, Antionice Hearst, Dominique Henderson, Nicole Henderson, Sharmae Henderson, Jeanne Jendrite, Courtney Johnson, Geikia Lee, Geno Lee, Brian Lomas, Ondre Mathews, Davel Mathis, James McGlynn, Kelly McGlynn, Maureen McGlynn, Josh McLaughlin, Kody McLaughlin, Tabien Merrit, Lindsay Mitchell, Leah Moore, Sheree Murphy, Jontae Norman, Cheyenne Oakley, Amanda O'Connor, Alishia Raines, John Raines, Richard Rec, Jamal Sam, Jessica Sears, Derrick Stewart, Daijah Street, Jessica Wallace, Erica Wasson, and Teresa Williams. □

Guest Commentary

Inquiry Resembles Starr Investigation

By State Representative Raymond E. Basham

The panel investigating operations at Detroit Metro Airport is out of control.

When House Concurrent Resolution 43 was approved on June 16, 1999, it stated that the Joint Legislative Select Committee on the Wayne County Detroit Metropolitan Airport would look into three areas: congestion, lack of fundamental services, and inadequate response to customers. But an August 19, 1999 memorandum from the co-chairs of the panel to the State Auditor General states that the Joint Committee will now look into every aspect of airport operations, from security to land acquisition. And even though the Committee passed a motion providing for two members of the auditor general's staff to be placed on loan for the acquisition, six have been appointed. I wasn't even consulted. Why are these decisions being made behind closed doors?

Apparently, the Committee has no intention of ever looking into the treatment of passengers by the airlines. What was supposed to be an investigation about the treatment of stranded travelers at Metro Airport during a snowstorm turned into a Ken Starr-style inquisition.

The Joint Legislative Select Committee was created in response to a federal report that was highly critical of Northwest Airlines for the company's actions following a massive January 1999 snowstorm. But it is my sense that a strong dose of partisan politics is behind this Metro Airport investigation, which will cost thousands of dollars to conduct. This seems like a huge waste of taxpayer dollars to me.

Much of what will be investigated is not relevant to the three fundamental issues of HCR 43. The Republican-led Joint Committee has turned a simple probe into a complicated and meaningless witch-hunt. Every dollar that the Airport must now spend accommodating this absurd investigation means that there is one less dollar to spend on customer service.

Representative Ray Basham

Republicans have suggested that a State-sponsored probe of the Metropolitan Detroit Airport was long overdue. But Airport officials have pointed out that their facility already is audited each year, and that this annual audit is always available for public inspection.

And so I ask: Why, then, do the bloodthirsty leaders of the Joint Committee believe that this investigation is even necessary?

Harlen Nathaniel "Casey" Clark

Harlen Nathaniel "Casey" Clark of Royal Oak, Michigan, died on Saturday, August 21, 1999. He was 81 years old.

Casey was born in Soldier (Carter County), Kentucky, on July 24, 1918. He began working in the field of country music at the age of 12, playing fiddle on radio station WSAZ in Huntington, West Virginia. During the next 65 years, his devotion to excellence made him one of the finest fiddlers in the genre. But Casey's contributions to country music were not limited to performing; he was also a well-known and respected disc jockey, band leader, and promoter, helping then-budding artists such as "Little" Jimmy Dickens, Jimmy Martin, Skeeter Davis, and Buddy Emmons take their first steps on the road to national fame.

The Detroit area's first exposure to Casey came in 1945, when he became a member of WJR Radio's five-piece "Goodwill Billies" band, along with Jerry Byrd, Ernie Lee, Red Maxedon, and Brownie Reynolds. Later, he went on to become a DJ at the station, doing weekday morning shows (5:05 to 6 a.m.) and afternoon shows (known as "Town and Country") in the mid 1950s.

But most country fans of the '50s era knew Casey best as the host of Casey Clark's Lazy Ranch Boys Barn Dance; held each Saturday night on Detroit's Mack Avenue (and broadcast live on WJR), and as the emcee/band leader of the Casey Clark Jamboree, which aired each Friday on CKLW-TV at 11 p.m.

For the next 40 years, Casey was a fixture of the local country-nightclub scene, usually performing with various members of his family (including his daughter, Evelyn; sons Billy and Mike; and sons-in-law Mickey Kreutzer I and David Atkins), as well as a host of other local musicians. He was also known to take his show on the road, doing extended tours of the Midwest states.

Of all his accomplishments, Casey was probably most proud of his United Service Organization (USO) tours, when he and his band performed for US troops stationed overseas at locations such as Guantanamo Bay (Cuba), Puerto Rico, Panama, South Korea, Okinawa, and Guam.

Casey received numerous awards throughout his lengthy career; among the most noteworthy were the "Michigan Country Music Pioneer" award and the Michigan Community Music Alliance "Legend of Country Music" award. He was also the first living person to be inducted into the Michigan Country Music Hall of Fame.

Through it all, Casey always found time to indulge his favorite hobbies. The avid sportsman enjoyed both hunting and fishing, and was also a big fan of team sports, particularly professional baseball and college basketball.

Among those surviving Casey are his wife, Mrs. Mary E. (Smith) Clark; two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn H. Atkins and Mrs. Danny W. (Carol A.) Cox; seven siblings, Mrs. Lillian Estep, Mrs. Stearle (Zelma) Evans, Mrs. George T. (Ruth) Bradley, Mrs. Esther Shay, Mrs. Bess Gerber, Mrs. Mildred Bays, and Mr. Harold Clark; 12 grandchildren, Miss Kristi N. Stephens, Mr. William C. Clark, Mrs. Kevin M. (Mary F.) Fisher, Mrs. William H. (Melody L.) Duncan IV, Mrs. Burton (Kathleen A.) Kowalewski, Miss Jalaina D. Stephens, Mr. Danny T. (Carry L.) Cox, Mr. Mickey D. (Ann M.) Kreutzer II, Mrs. Steven (Iris L.) Rinaldi, Miss Lisa N. Kreutzer, Mrs. Thomas D. (Michelle R.) Anderson, and Mrs. Michael J. (Sarah E.) Miller; and 26 great-grandchildren, Brandon M. Halcomb, Theodor J. Johnston, Christopher M. Kreutzer, Ronald D. Kreutzer, Alex R. Halcomb, Chantel N. Lazo, Kayla G. Skiver, Brittany M. Clark, Mickey D. Kreutzer III, Amanda E. Kreutzer, Joseph R. Stockman, Steven M. Fisher, Travis W. Johnston, Danielle B. Stephens, Briana A. Kreutzer, Samantha R. Kreutzer, Nicholas H. Stockman, Andrew T. Anderson, Jacob T. Miller, Tyler D. Anderson, Joshua T. Kowalewski, Danyelle L. Cox, Steven J. Rinaldi, Natalie K. Duncan, Matthew R. Rinaldi, and Ashleigh F. Miller.

He is also survived by his longtime companion, Ms. Jan Tatarian; her sons, Mr. John Tatarian and Mr. David (Mary) Tatarian; and her grandchildren, Candace Tatarian, Danielle Tatarian, Jonathan Tatarian, and Dominic Tatarian.

Among those who preceded him in death were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John and Sarah A. (Ham) Clark; two sons, Mr. Billy H. Clark and Mr. Michael R. Clark; and six siblings, Mr. Harshel Clark, Mrs. Molly Jo Blevins, Mr. John Allen Clark, Elsie Clark, Clysta Clark, and George Clark.

A memorial service will be held at 7 p.m. on Friday, September 3, at St. Paul's United Church of Christ, 26550 Cherry Hill Road (corner of Cherry Hill and John Daly roads) in Dearborn Heights, Michigan. A second service will be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday, September 5, at the Wesleyan Church in Soldier, Kentucky. Burial will be in the Clark Family Cemetery in Soldier.

Memorial tributes may be made to the American Heart Association or the American Cancer Society. □

Known as "Your Big Fat Buddy," Casey Clark did both a morning show and an afternoon "Town and Country" Show at WJR in the mid 1950s.
